

Monday, 2 April 2012 8:10 | Author: Ian Brodie

Perucchetti work at Barclays in Monaco

Artist Mauro Perucchetti, known for his life-size Jelly Babies sculpture at Marble Arch in London, is exhibiting some of this artwork in the Barclays offices in Monaco until April 22. The exhibition showcases 14 pieces from his “Apocalyptic” collection. A cocktail reception to be hosted by CEO Francesco Grosoli in the presence of the artist for clients and prospects of the wealth and investment management division of Barclays is currently being planned by the marketing department towards the end of April.

PHOTO: Mauro & Lorena Perucchetti